The First Coins with the Mint Year of 2000 are Now Being Given Away FREE to Introduce The New U.S. Golden Dollar

By Thomas Waterfield, Media Services

When was the last time someone gave you FREE money? Well, it already happened once last year and now it's happening again, so hurry because we'll tell you how to get yours FREE.

For the first time in history the U.S. Government is minting a Golden $1 dollar coin. The U.S. Mint worked miracles to strike this new coin from a special alloy that gives the coin a fine Golden brilliance.

Since that announcement, it has been revealed that The United States Commemorative Gallery, which secretly stockpiles massive amounts of U.S. Coins, has specially plated the rest of the coins minted for the year 2000 in pure 24Kt gold to match the brilliance of the new Golden Dollar.

The original plan was to sell the coins individually or as a complete five-coin collector's set to commemorate the new Golden Dollar and the First Minting of the year 2000 coins.

But without notice, the Gallery decided not to sell the individual coins but instead will give them away FREE in an effort to increase awareness of the age-old hobby of collecting U.S. Coins.

"It is highly important that we foster the continued collection of special U.S. coins as we enter this new century," said J. Thomas White, Director of the privately owned United States Commemorative Gallery.

"With the new Golden Dollar, these coins will be the most important part of any collection because 2000 is definitely a year to remember. Most people want something they can hand down to their children or grandchildren. Others want something meaningful to give as a gift to someone special," White said.

The Gallery will offer a controlled number of the complete five-coin sets to the general public for only $17. Yes, collectors say it sounds unbelievable, but it is true!

It cannot be promised that everyone who wants them will be able to get the complete five-coin set. So hurry because they will be released on a first-come, first-served basis in accordance with planned transfers from the U.S. Mint during the next six weeks. But for now, the availability of an individual FREE coin is guaranteed.

Simple instructions are provided in the box below for readers to claim the FREE coins or to get the complete five-coin set. The Gallery guarantees you will receive one of the FREE Coins you select.

To properly protect your coin in shipment and as an appropriate display, a special Gallery Approved Protective Display case for the FREE individual coins is available. "We highly recommend the display case to prevent unnecessary handling of the coins," White said.

We are providing the direct telephone number and address below so readers can immediately get the FREE coins.

This makes a wonderful reason to celebrate the new 2000 millennium all year long. Enjoy! ■
